The Journal of Medical and Dental Sciences is published quarterly in March, June, September and December by Tokyo Medical and Dental University, Bunkyo-ku, Tokyo 113–8510, Japan. The Journal publishes authoritative, peer reviewed articles relevant to the medical and dental sciences. Manuscripts will appear under one of the following sections: original articles, review articles, mini reviews, short communications, case reports, technical innovations or statistical investigations. Review articles are usually invited, but submitted reviews will be considered. Authors are requested only to send in manuscripts prepared according to the “Information for Contributors” given on the inside page of the back cover.

Information for Contributors

1. Qualifications for Submission: To be eligible to submit manuscripts, the first author should be:
   1. Faculty and staff of Tokyo Medical and Dental University;
   2. Current student of Tokyo Medical and Dental University who has been recommended by her/his professor;
   3. Non-regular, non-current student of Tokyo Medical and Dental University who has received approval from the Board prior to manuscript submission.

2. A person who wishes to contribute a manuscript to the Journal of Medical and Dental Sciences should submit the manuscript to the Editor-in-Chief, Administration Office of the University Library, Tokyo Medical and Dental University, 1-5-43, Yushima, Bunkyo-ku, Tokyo 113–8510, Japan.

3. The following types of papers will be considered for publication: original articles, review articles, mini reviews, short communications, case reports, technical innovations or statistical investigations.

4. Acceptability will be determined by the Board and will basically be applied to manuscripts requested by the Board.

5. Manuscripts will be reviewed by three or more professionals, who are members of the Board or have been requested by the Board to serve as guest reviewers. Retainers may come from either within or outside of Tokyo Medical and Dental University.

6. Submission of electronic manuscripts is essential for scientific purposes.

7. The names of medicine should be presented as chemical or generic names, and the first letter should be capitalized.

8. Figures should be presented as follows:
   1) Figures should be arranged in numerical order according to the presentation in the text (ex. Table I, Table II).
   2) Each figure should be presented on a separate sheet with the explanation and author's names written on the reverse side.

9. Figures should be presented in the text (ex. Fig. 1, Fig. 2).
10. Figures should be presented in accordance with SI (Systeme International) standards. Linear units should be expressed in accordance with SI standards. Therefore, all linear, angular, and time units should be expressed in accordance with SI standards (ex. Time, µ, m, mm, Km).
11. Figures should be presented in the text (ex. Table I, Table II).
12. Scientific names of bacteria, animals, and plants should be written in italics, and the first letter should be capitalized.

13. The names of medicine should be presented as chemical or generic names written in lower case. When a commercial name is used, the first letter should be capitalized.

14. Scientific names should comply with the principles of “the Hoboken Convention” and animal experiments shall comply with the principles of “Guidelines for Animal Experimentation, Tokyo Medical and Dental University”. Compliance with these principles should be indicated in the manuscript where appropriate.

15. Manuscripts reporting trials of drugs that have not yet been approved and those reporting experiments on humans or human materials should be accompanied by documentation showing approval by the Ethics committee of the author’s affiliated organization as well as documentation showing that informed consent was obtained from the patient(s). Every effort shall be made to protect patient privacy by removing identifying information unless the information is essential for scientific purposes.

16. Each time a reference is cited in the text, the citation number should be placed within square brackets after the author’s name and before the period. The number should correspond to the number of the reference that is given in the references section at the end of the manuscript.

17. References should be presented as follows:
   1) References should be arranged in numerical order and order according to the sequence of presentation in the text and listed double-spaced on separate sheets.
   2) If there are more than four authors of a manuscript, list the first three names followed by et al.

18. Journal abbreviations should follow the format reported in Index Medicus.

19. Authors are requested to provide a letter that explains why they omit site (ex. URL) in their manuscript.

20. References concerning those based on the Vancouver style, with some modifications (ex. "Guidelines for Journal of Medical and Dental Sciences"), which are available in the Administration Office of the University Library.

21. Units should be expressed in accordance with SI (Systeme International) standards. Linear units should be expressed in accordance with SI standards (ex. Time, µ, m, mm, Km).

22. Tables should be presented in the text (ex. Table I, Table II).
23. Each table should be presented on a separate sheet with the explanation and author’s names written on the reverse side.

24. Authors will usually be asked to proofread their articles only once. Offprints should be ordered from: The Administration Office of the University Library.

25. Figures should be presented as follows:
   1) Figures should be arranged in numerical order according to the presentation in the text (ex. Table I, Table II).
   2) Each figure should be presented on a separate sheet with the explanation and author’s names written on the reverse side.

26. The copyright for articles that appear in the Journal of Medical and Dental Sciences will be transferred to Tokyo Medical and Dental University.
